Other Reliefs

Families are encouraged to explore the additional tuition reliefs below (based on a $45,000 tuition expense) with their own professional financial and tax advisers to determine eligibility. This commentary is provided for general informational purposes only and does not constitute financial or tax advice. Fraser Academy is not qualified to provide such advice.

CRA Relief
on eligible medical expenses

CRA has accepted Fraser Academy tuition as an eligible medical expense for the Medical Expense Tax Credit.

The expense may be claimed via one of the following, depending on your financial circumstances:

- Individual Tax Return: up to $8,500 relief
- Private Health Services Plan (PHSP): up to $15,000 relief
- Health Spending Account (HSA): up to $20,000 relief

CRA Disability Tax Credit and its associated benefits

Families have had success applying for CRA's Disability Tax Credit (DTC) which could provide:

- Tax relief per child under 18 years: up to $3,100/year
- Registered Disability Savings Plan: matching grants and bonds up to $4,500/year or $90,000/lifetime up to age 49
- Child Disability Benefit: up to $3,300/year

DTC claims may be backdated by up to 10 years.

Consider reaching out to T.J. Firenze at Disability Tax Advocates for support to guide you through the complexities of applying for the DTC; or contact your own professional financial advisor.

Externally Available Grants

- CKNW Kid's Fund and Variety – The Children's Charity – up to $5,500 combined support towards tuition costs, plus additional support for counseling, laptops, psycho-educational assessments, and more
- Jordan's Principle or support from First Nations communities – up to 100% tuition and other benefits for First Nations students
- The Inuit Child First Initiative – various supports available for Inuit students
